Acadia Farms ANNUAL SALE

to be held at Acadia Farms

Northfield, Ohio, Sat., May 20, 1961

Please bring this catalog with you to the sale.

Mr. Cyrus Eaton with Acadia Napoleon 44th, Reserve Grand Champion, 1960 American Royal. This bull is Lot 1.

A Warm Welcome Awaits You!

We're getting ready for another great gathering of the Shorthorn clans at Acadia on Saturday, May 20. Sale time is also reunion time, so we'll be rolling out the welcome mat for all friends, old and new, who share our love for good Shorthorns.

Our sale offering is mainly comprised of the get and service of two of our imported bulls, Calrossie Troubadour and Kinellar Napoleon, and their best sons. Our rule is not to comment on the quality of our cattle, but to ask you to judge for yourselves. Without departing from custom, we think we can safely say that our 1961 sale bulls are as sound a group as you've seen in one place in many years, and that our females will also please you. We are eager to get the verdict of Polled Shorthorn breeders on the small but select group we have assembled from that growing part of our herd.

There's lots to see at Acadia. We should like to have you inspect both the sale cattle and the breeding herd in a leisurely way. We hope you will make your plans to arrive at the Shorthorn Farm on Friday, May 19th and to stay for supper with us at the Home Farm. As in the past, we're counting on cooperation from the weatherman to have the lilacs and flowering shrubs at the height of their bloom for the ladies.

With us, we know you'll miss two of our valued old associates, who have played an important part in the painstaking development of the Acadia and Deep Cove herds. Dwight Griffith, who served as General Manager of the two farms from 1954 until 1960, was enthusiastically planning for this event until the end. Hal Longley, our Sale Manager for a decade, made his always inspiring pre-sale visit as recently as late February. We are determined to live up to the high expectations that both held for us.

The American Royal Reserve Junior Champion, Acadia Napoleon 45. This bull sells as Lot 2.

I wish all breeders could have had the opportunity to see what I did on the occasion of a recent visit to Acadia to view their sale offering. This is a powerful set of bulls . . . a convincing display of what Kinellar Napoleon is doing. Since this sire is young, Acadia has not had to top off its best bulls to reserve for herd duty. All of the great bulls you saw on the 1960 show circuit will be selling . . . in addition to several younger ones of equal promise. These bulls are of the calibre to head the finest herds in the land.

Acadia has planned for this sale for two years. They have reserved for it the kind of females one would normally expect to go back into the herd. It is an ideal opportunity for the breeder who wishes to make his own herd stronger. Many of these females will be carrying calves that will be future herd sires or will pay for the cost of the dam should the new owner care to sell.

Improvement must come from both sires and dams. No matter how good the sire, it takes a great cow herd, deep in strong breeding, to produce improvers. The Acadia cow herd is one of the all-time best in the history of the breed.

We are extremely fortunate to have in the Shorthorn business, men of means, such as Cyrus Eaton, who are willing to search the world for the very best. They are in a position to take the risk involved in acquiring a $25,500 sire like Kinellar Napoleon. When such a bloodline clicks . . . as this has so obviously . . . it becomes time to capitalize upon the opportunity that is made available to all.

The Eaton family, and their fine associates at Acadia and Deep Cove, have done a great deal more than simply invest in the best. They have given of their own time, talents, energy and enthusiasm. This is the intangible that lifts a herd to greatness.

IMPORTED CALROSSIE TROUBADOUR — Sire of champions, has won a lasting place of prominence in the all-time beef cattle hall of fame, so that his record need not be recited here in detail. Most famous of his progeny is his first son P S Troubadour, 1956 International Grand Champion Steer over all breeds. The spectacular tale of Troubadour's triumphs now belongs to history: how he won the supreme award of cattledom, brought the record price, traveled farther and was seen and admired, in person and on television, by more people than have ever before viewed any beef cattle celebrity. Sons and daughters of Troubadour from each subsequent crop of calves have scaled the championship heights, in both Shorthorn and Polled Shorthorn breeding classes, as well as steer shows. Acadia Troubadour 35th x was named Grand Champion bull of the 1959 National Polled Shorthorn Congress at the age of ten months, in Acadia's first participation in that important annual event. Latest in the triumphant procession of Troubadours is Acadia Lavender 10th, 1960 International Reserve Grand Champion female. At the same show, as well as the 1960 American Royal, Troubadour sons and daughters teamed up with Napoleon progeny to win the coveted rosette and trophy for Best Ten Head. One son and seven daughters of Calrossie Troubadour, and two bulls and seven females by three of his best sons, are featured in this sale, while several of the sale females carry his service.

President Eisenhower joined P S Troubadour's legion of admirers when Betty Royon took the King of Beef to the Eisenhower Farm at Gettysburg, Pa., for a command appearance. This visit marked the opening of the Acadia-bred 1956 International Grand Champion's second international grand tour in mid-1957.

P S Troubadour traveled in a style befitting the King of Beefdom. Many of the thousands of miles were on the Chesapeake and Ohio railway. Hundreds of thousands of people saw and admired this great specimen of the Shorthorn breed.

SOME FACTS YOU MAY ALREADY KNOW ABOUT KINELLAR NAPOLEON

Imported Kinellar Napoleon will go down in Shorthorn history as the Sire of 1960.

Napoleon sons and daughters set a fast pace on the 1960 state fair circuit, went on to win high new honors at the American Royal and climaxed a brilliantly successful season by heading more individual and group classes at the International than the calves of any other sire. Both at Kansas City and Chicago, the Napoleon progeny placed first in the all-important Get of Sire class, and combined with other Acadia and Deep Cove entries by Calrossie Troubadour to win the coveted rosette and trophy for Best Ten Head. Details of the 1960 awards will be found throughout this catalog. Suffice it to say here that three members of the winning Get, Acadia Napoleon 44th, Acadia Napoleon 45th and Augusta of Acadia 2nd are featured in this sale. The fourth, Deep Cove Clipper 3rd, has been returned to Nova Scotia to take a permanent place in the herd there.

The Napoleon story has been one of superlative success from the start. Winner of major championships in Scotland as a calf and a yearling, Kinellar Napoleon was purchased, for service in the Acadia and Deep Cove herds, at $25,500, the top price of the 1956 Perth Show and Sale, after winning the Reserve Senior Championship. Now six years old, he has four great calf crops to his credit, and the early calves of his fifth crop look equally good.

The Polled sons of Kinellar Napoleon give every promise of writing an important new chapter in that branch of the Shorthorn breed. His first Polled son, Acadia Napoleon 4th x, took first prize in the junior bull calf class at the 1958 International, in his show ring debut. Acadia Napoleon 25th x was named Reserve Grand Champion bull of the 1960 Polled Shorthorn Congress.

Like his calves on this side of the Atlantic, Kinellar Buttercup 11th, his only calf in Scotland, has made a record to be envied. A universally admired female, she was a Royal Show champion, and produced Kinellar Royal Robin, now herd sire at Louada.

While Kinellar Napoleon has been making a name for himself in North America, other sons and grandsons of the late great Gallant Marshal have also been distinguishing themselves on both sides of the Atlantic. Each succeeding Perth Show and Sale adds new luster to Gallant Marshal breeding. The Supreme Champion bull and most of the top prize-winners and top sellers at Perth in 1961 were directly descended from Gallant Marshal.

Seven sons and thirteen daughters of Kinellar Napoleon, and a Polled heifer by one of his Polled sons, are featured in this sale. Nine of the sale females carry his service, while eleven others are bred to some of his best sons.

The late Gallant Marshal. Sire of Kinellar Napoleon. An amateur unretouched snapshot in every-day breeding form.

These pages will give you some idea of the impact Gallant Marshal blood is having in Scotland and throughout the world. Kinellar Napoleon . . . Reserve Senior Champion, Perth, 1956, and top of that sale at $25,500 . . . is the greatest breeding son of Gallant Marshal.

In bringing this sire to America, Acadia has introduced a potent new line into the Shorthorn bloodstream. The only calf by Kinellar Napoleon in Scotland is the many times champion, Kinellar Buttercup 11th. She is the dam of the new Louada herd sire, Kinellar Royal Robin.

Had Kinellar Napoleon stayed in Scotland, you would today be crossing the Atlantic to obtain his sons . . . and there you would be competing with breeders from all over the world. It is much simpler to come to Acadia on May 20. Those who buy the blood of Kinellar Napoleon will be the source of this new line in their region.

Acadia Napoleon 15th. Reserve Grand champion, 1959 American Royal. Grand Champion Bull, 1959 Ohio and New York State Fairs, and Ohio Futurity Show.

Three of the best sons of imported Kinellar Napoleon, Sire of 1960, have been specially selected for service in the Acadia and Deep Cove herds. A study of their pedigrees, which are printed here, reveals a wealth of breeding. A study of their first calves, which have arrived at Acadia and Deep Cove, reveals a wealth of individuality worthy of their sires and grand sires.

ACADIA NAPOLEON 20th — The history of the Shorthorn breed has shown that the herds making the greatest progress include a white bull in their breeding program. DEEP COVE NAPOLEON 3rd — Deep Cove Napoleon 3rd, Junior Champion bull of the 1959 Canadian Royal Winter Fair, represents the ultimate in breeding from both the Acadia and Deep Cove herds. His dam, Deep Cove Blossom Queen 3rd, is a full sister to the Scottish Monarch bulls that have won an unbroken line of championships in Eastern Canada, and have gone on to make impressive records as herd sires at leading Shorthorn establishments in both Canada and the United States.

Calrossie Sportsman, famous imported son of Millhills Champion. This former Acadia herd sire brought the best of Calrossie breeding to Acadia. His influence remains strong, not only at Acadia, but also in many herds throughout the land.

In selecting breeding cattle it is important to know as much as possible about their background. Here are other sires that have been or are now playing an important role at Acadia and Deep Cove.

You will notice the footnotes in this catalog deal only with the pedigrees. Acadia is perfectly willing to accept your judgment as to the individuality of each animal. All could be described in glowing terms because they all show such promise. However, it's your opinion that counts . . . and you will not be disappointed.

No picture is available of Imported Calrossie Torchlight, the rugged exponent of the sought after Calrossie Welcome-Kirkton Baronet cross that sired outstanding females for Acadia. He was a white son of Calrossie Welcome and his dam was a daughter of Calrossie Cock Robin, the great son of Kirkton Baronet that made history in Canada. Six of his daughters sell in this sale.

Acadia Highland Bob, the prize-winning son of Calrossie Troubadour that served successfully as a junior herd sire at Acadia until he was specially selected for export to the All-Union Scientific and Experimental Institute of Animal Husbandry near Moscow in the Soviet Union. He is a three-quarter brother to P S Troubadour, 1956 International Grand Champion Steer over all breeds. A Polled son and two daughters sell in this sale.

Left, Hayard Monarch, Reserve Grand Champion bull of the 1948 Canadian Royal Winter Fair, and sire of countless champion sons and daughters. He brought the best Killearn bloodlines to Deep Cove Farms. Three of his daughters sell in this sale.

Acadia Sportsman 60th, Grand Champion bull of the 1955 Ohio State Shorthorn Show and the 1957 Maritime Winter Fair, sired impressive calves for Deep Cove Farms. By Calrossie Sportsman and out of Kildun Primula 2nd, he was a full brother to Acadia Louada Primula 3rd, Grand Champion female of the 1954 National Shorthorn Show. A son sells in this sale.

Cyrus Eaton admires Deep Cove Clipper 3rd, Grand Champion female, 1960 Nova Scotia Provincial Exposition, as Deep Cove manager Greta Gates presides at the halter.

Deep Cove Farms Produces The Blue Ribbon Kind...

The Deep Cove herd has paraded an unbroken succession of champions in major eastern Canadian and American shows for more than a decade.

Sons and daughters of the late great Hayard Monarch . . . himself Reserve Grand Champion bull of the 1948 Canadian Royal Winter Fair . . . started the procession of purples for Deep Cove. The Deep Cove progeny of Kinellar Napoleon, many out of Monarch dams, are picking up where their predecessors left off, and rolling up an equally impressive record.

Shorthorns are strong in the Canadian Maritimes, and most Maritime Shorthorn herds are strong in Monarch bloodlines. Sons of Monarch are also making their mark in prominent American herds in such widely scattered states as Ohio, Kentucky, Maine, Minnesota, and South Dakota.

Ohio State University's champion junior herd sire, Napoleon Monarch, was produced by a Monarch heifer from Deep Cove, purchased in an Acadia sale. Deep Cove Napoleon 3rd, Junior Champion bull of the 1959 Canadian Royal Winter Fair and junior herd sire for Acadia and Deep Cove, is out of a Monarch dam. The Monarch-Napoleon cross is one to watch.

Acadia Lavender N and Acadia Napoleon 15th. Grand champion bull and Grand Champion Female, 1959 Ohio State Fair. Both by Kinellar Napoleon. Acadia Lavender N was also the 1959 International Reserve Grand Champion Female. She is from the same female family as Lot 26.

ROSEWOOD OF ACADIA x — By Creekland Lancer x, 1955 International Grand Champion bull for Oakwood Stock Farm and sire of many champion sons and daughters. Rosewood 34th x, Junior and Reserve Grand Champion female of the 1957 Nebraska State Fair, was the top selling heifer of the 1958 Oakwood Sale. Her 1960 daughter will make a strong showing for Acadia in the senior yearling class on this year's show circuit.

Bred to Acadia Napoleon 45th, a feature of this sale.

The following story was prepared by the Corn Belt Dailies and appeared in their 1960 Fair & Breed issue.

Acadia Farms Known for Fine Shorthorns, Service to Many

Ohio Firm Has Noted Herd of Purebreds Built on Top Foundation
Cattle of Two Continents; Broadly Serves Home Community, the Shorthorn Breed, and Other Groups

By Staff Reporter

In French, Acadia is the name for Nova Scotia. In American and the language of the cattle business, Acadia is the name of one of the largest, if not "the" largest, farm units in northeastern Ohio, the name of one of the largest herds of registered Shorthorn cattle east of the Mississippi, and the name of the major part of the only truly international herd of purebred Shorthorns on the continent.

Consisting of about 800 acres and stocked with a purebred herd of about 300 head, Acadia Farms, Northfield, Ohio, is located midway between the metropolitan areas of Cleveland and Akron.

Canadian counterpart of the firm is the 3,000-acre, 100-head Deep Cove Farms and Shorthorn herd of Upper Blandford, Nova Scotia.

Owner of both Acadia and Deep Cove Farms is Cyrus S. Eaton, Nova Scotia-born, North American industrialist, and chairman of the board of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway. Mr. Eaton has lived for many years on Acadia Farms in a modest, white-frame, green-shuttered, 135-year-old farm home.

Vice-president of the farm firm is Miss Betty Royon, Mr. Eaton's business assistant, and for six years a director of the American Shorthorn Assn. She is the first woman ever to serve as a director of this breed group. Miss Royon is also secretary of the Ohio Shorthorn Breeders Assn., and a tireless worker for the breed wherever she goes.

These things, alone, are enough to make the Acadia name meaningful to many persons in many walks of life. But Acadia is well known for another meaning that has been built into it over the past several decades by Cyrus Eaton, Miss Royon, and the Acadia team. The meaning that has made the farm distinctive in the minds of tens of thousands of cattlemen, agricultural students and leaders, youngsters, and men of many vocations is "service."

Acadia Hosts Many

Hardly a day goes by that some members of the Acadia team are not wholeheartedly involved in some service activity. And few days go by that Acadia Farms does not serve as host to some visiting group of stockmen, breeders, students and others.

Located in a precious pocket of rolling, grassy fields and woods, watered by springs and reached easily by fine roads, Acadia is in a natural location for attracting country and city visitors. And for the past several decades, it has been the policy to utilize this location advantage, the beautiful farm features, and the fine herd of Shorthorns, for a unique combination of business, educational and recreational purposes.

For instance, in pursuing service to the greater Cleveland and Ohio community, Acadia is, every spring, host to busload after busload of visiting grade school children. Many of these youngsters see their first beef cattle on pasture tours at the farm.

Cub Scouts by the hundreds have enjoyed the deep virgin woods, open pastures, springs and wildlife on Acadia Farms. The annual picnic of the C & O Railway and outings for many groups are held there. At one time recently, a group of 5,000 women were feted at Acadia Farms during the American Home Economics convention.

Enjoying the farms the year around are some 20 children that are members of Mr. Eaton's family, or members of families of staff members.

Livestock groups are, of course, especially welcomed at Acadia Farms. Each year the senior livestock judging teams of Ohio State University and Pennsylvania State University work out on the Acadia show string. Demonstrations, contests and pasture tours are arranged regularly for 4-H judging teams and clubs. Numerous Ohio Shorthorn field days and events have been held at Acadia.

Even better known are Acadia's services to the Shorthorn breed and the livestock industry through promotional and public relations efforts.

In this regard, the tour of "Troubadour Triumphant" may well stand as the outstanding Shorthorn promotion of all time.

A Steer Turns Salesman

PS Troubadour, as most stockmen know well enough, was the grand champion steer of the 1956 International Livestock Exposition at Chicago. He was bred on Acadia Farms, sired by Calrossie Troubadour Acadia herd sire, and was out of Lord John Boyd-Orr and Sir Norman Angell, both Nobel Peace Prize winners and beef cattle enthusiasts, enjoy a day at Acadia with Mr. Eaton. The bull is Acadia Napoleon 15th.

Acadia Queen of Beauty 2d. "Troubadour," the steer, was bought in dam by Pennsylvania State University, was raised and fitted by the university, and shown by it at the International.

Climbing clear to the top in open and all breed grand championship judging, the steer was then auctioned off to The Greenbrier Hotel, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., for a record International price up to that time of $20.50 a pound.

Then, with the close co-operation of the hotel, Mr. Eaton, and the C. & O. Railway, Troubadour made a tour of 11 Eastern states and Canada. He was seen in the flesh, on TV, and in the movies by 50 million persons, according to conservative estimate.

Lends Full Co-operation

If service is one meaning of Acadia, co-operation is another. The firm has been a booster of American Shorthorn Assn. activities, and a strong supporter of the activities of the Ohio Shorthorn Assn. It also co-operates fully with colleges and universities.

The firm has been strong in support of Shorthorn breeding cattle shows. At the New York State Fair, where the Shorthorn show was once dropped from the show schedule, Acadia was instrumental in reviving it, and then for making it one of the largest breed shows there.

Numerous institutions have obtained aid and service at Acadia Farms, and do so regularly now. Acadia aided in establishing a Shorthorn herd at the Rolling Y Ranch, a western style ranch camp for Cleveland city youngsters, that is maintained by the Cleveland YMCA. And, Acadia personnel help with the activities programs that concern the livestock there each spring and summer.

Many university herds have acquired Acadia cattle. Only recently, a new Shorthorn herd was founded on Acadia-bred cattle at Tawara Farm of Wilberforce University, Xenia, Ohio. Their herd sire is Acadia Troubadour 42d.

Built Firm Foundation

All of the activities of Acadia Farms undertaken in connection with the cattle business are firmly based on the strong foundation herd build by Mr. Eaton during the 40's, and the practical program of herd development and improvement carried on since that time.

Acadia has been Mr. Eaton's home for many years. Back in the 20's it supported dairy stock. Then for awhile in the early and mid-40's, beef cattle were fed and fattened there. During the War, Mr. Eaton became interested in Shorthorn cattle through his acquaintance with prominent Shorthorn enthusiasts like the late, great businessman-breeder, Thomas Wilson, owner of Edellyn Farms.

Miss Royon describes the subsequent development of Acadia Shorthorns. "The original foundations of the Acadia and Deep Cove herds were laid with the best females obtainable from the strongest herds in the United States, Canada, and Scotland. Individuality and bloodline have both been watched with meticulous care from the beginning.

"Basic to the breeding program has been the most painstaking selection of new herd sires, with insistence on intensification of already established strains and avoidance of violent outcrosses, in order to preserve hard-won uniformity. The latest addition to the stock-bull battery was made, for example, only after inspection of more than a thousand prospects, as well as their sires and dams, on two continents."

The extremely careful selection of breeding stock for Acadia Farms resulted in the late 40's and early 50's in that herd becoming a stronghold of the world famous Calrossie breeding in America. This line has been judiciously infused with other prominent lines in recent years.

Outstanding female performers in the Acadia herd have come from the following imported families: Rosewood Rachel, Primula, Kinellar Lavender, Princess Cows and heifer calves heading for a creek, with Betty Royon, vice president of Acadia Farms, at their heels.

Roma, and Butterfly Charm.

Imported Sires Head the Herd

A top Calrossie-bred bull whose influence is still very strong in the Acadia herd was Calrossie Sportsman, imported son of Millhills Champion. About 25 daughters by him are still in the herd. Largely responsible for early uniformity in the cow herd, he passed on real breed character, heavy-milking ability and medium size to his daughters. One of them was the dam of PS Troubadour. Sons of Sportsman have also been used in the herd.

Other noted sires which have been used successfully at Acadia and Deep Cove Farms are Hayard Monarch, reserve grand champion at the 1948 Royal Winter Fair, Toronto, sire of many champions, and Ballathie Perfect, imported, sire of many show ring winners. Hayard Monarch brought Killearn breeding to the herd. Ballathie Perfect was sired by Calrossie Silver Mascot by Kirkton Baronet.

Two other top imported bulls, both dark roan in color, and both with impressive records, are now in use at Acadia. Oldest of these is Calrossie Troubadour, bred by John & D. P. MacGillivray, Scotland. He was the sire of PS Troubadour and many breeding show champions. He has been and is being used profitably on Sportsman daughters.

Most prominent of the additions to the Acadia bull battery of recent years is Kinellar Napoleon, reserve supreme champion and $25,500 top-selling bull at the 1956 Perth, Scotland, show and sale. A good-headed, heavy boned son of Gallant Marshal, that stands very correctly on his legs, Napoleon was the sire of a large number of the Acadia 1959 purple ribbon winners at major shows. Sons of both Troubadour and Napoleon are also being used.

Polled Cattle Show Well

Both major senior herd sires are being used successfully on the small but growing herd of high-quality Polled Short-horns on Acadia Farms. This herd now consists of 15 females that originated mostly in the herd of C. B. Teegardin & Sons, Oakwood Stock Farm.

Since 1949, Acadia has exhibited one or more champions at the Ohio State Fair each year, and one or more champions at shows held at the Michigan, Indiana, Kentucky and New York State Fairs, the International and the American Royal in various years.

Acadia Farms is the scene of great activity the year around. But the cattle are handled with the same calm and quiet, and in the same practical way, that would be appropriate on any western stock farm.

The man who has been responsible directly for the smooth-running cattle operations at Acadia and Deep Cove for some years is Dwight Griffith, general manager. This veteran of the Ohio Shorthorn business has been described by Miss Royon and his friends at Acadia as one of the most optimistic and enthusiastic figures the breed has known.

(Mr. Griffith, who was also vice-president of Acadia Farm, died July 13, after this story was prepared for publication.)

Don Hutzel, a Pennsylvania State University graduate, is the present Acadia herd manager. Dave Goddard is in charge of the show cattle, and Andy Mackie is in charge of the breeding cattle.

Mr. Eaton takes a very active interest in the routine management and welfare of his cattle, and makes daily rides on horseback among the purebreds on the 250 acres of pasture on Acadia Farms. And Mr. Eaton's grandson, Cyrus Eaton III, 14, son of Cyrus Eaton, Jr., who also lives on Acadia Farms, has become one of the top cattle hands there.

Young Cy is active in Summit County 4-H work, and has a good many steer show honors to his credit. A serious-minded lad, with good cattle sense, he has shown the champion in local competition, and at the International, he has led his steers to second and third places in junior competition and third place in the open show.

Have Two Main Centers

Cattle management on Acadia Farms is made as simple and practical by means of two main centers, and the use of 11 pastures.

One important center is the wintering quarters consisting of open sheds filled with hay, and large roomy pens for holding the cow herd in the winter time. All cows but heavy springers are kept here during the winter and are fed a basic ration of hay and grass silage.

Start Testing Program

Acadia's top herd sires are used artificially. Acadia cows that are not obviously with calf by late summer are pregnancy checked, and bulls are turned in with them as required.

Little Mr. Shorthorn with Linda Pry, Ohio Lassie Princess, Gene Mathers, and Beth Wilcox, Betty Royon's niece. Mathers donated the pony to the National Shorthorn Lassies. Acadia bought it for $500.

New to Acadia this year is a production testing program. Young cattle are now being weighed quarterly, and complete sets of production and performance records are being kept. The program is being undertaken for appraisal of progress within the herd, in co-operation with Ohio extension specialists.

For over a decade, calves produced in the carefully-managed, highly-bred Acadia herd have gone to prominent Shorthorn and Polled Shorthorn breeders throughout the country. Steady demand for Acadia breeding has kept the average of the five biennial production sales that have been held by the firm at close to $1,000.

Many other fine Acadia cattle are part of sound producing herds throughout the country. And for good reasons. The team at Acadia Farms is dedicated to making Acadia synonymous with production and performance wherever Shorthorn pedigrees carry the name.
